Charles C. Lancaster was re-elected president of the Citizens' Northwest Suburban Association for the twentieth consecutive year, at a special meeting held in the Masonic Hall at Tenleytown last night. Mr. Lancaster has been president of the organization since it was founded by him.

Shoemaker, fifth vice president; Fred J. Heider, treasurer (re-elected); J. T. Allison, secretary; Harry L. Freer, financial secretary; and J. J. Kramer, sergeant-at-arms.

Committee Appointments Deferred.

President Lancaster will appoint the association committees at the first meeting in the fall, to be held on the first Friday in October.

The resignation of Alex T. Yowell, secretary of the association for eight years, was received with regret by the association.

Resolutions of regret over the death of John R. McLean, an honorary member of the association, were passed upon motion of Fred J. Heider.

In a resolution introduced by President Lancaster, and unanimously passed by the citizens, it was contended that "all our real estate and personal taxes should be deposited in the United States Treasury, and the Congress should appropriate generally for the support of the federal seat of government in Washington. It was further urged in the resolution that 'the Congress should abandon entirely the unjust and illegal partnership between the United States and as to admit taxpayers of the District of Columbia, as being in clear violation of the letter and spirit of the seventeenth paragraph of section eight of article one of the Constitution of the United States.'"

To Look After District Bill.

The chair was authorized to appoint a committee to appear before the Senate committee in charge of the District appropriation bill, and the committee was appointed as follows: C. C. Lancaster, chairman; Louis P. Shoemaker and Dr. John W. Chappell.

A resolution protesting against certain alleged lack of care on the part of the Washington Railway and Electric Company was introduced by H. D. Smoot and passed.

Harry Freer introduced a resolution calling for the amendment of the association constitution so as to admit taxpayers as members, and the matter will be brought up for final passage at the fall meeting of the association.

G. Percy McHugh was admitted to membership in the association.

The meeting has been called for June 25, and its session, which will be presided over by Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, will continue for four or five days, or until a comprehensive scheme for spreading the trade information over the areas where it will be useful is devised.

Secretary Redfield will receive the delegates to the meeting June 25, and will address them. Part of the time of the sessions will be allotted for studies of other bureaus of the Department, as well as other departments of the government, so that those attending the conference can go back to their home cities with a thorough knowledge of how the government works.

The old contest between the line and staff of the navy will be reopened, it is expected, owing to the introduction of an amendment to the navy bill by Senator Tillman, chairman of the naval affairs committee, providing that staff officers shall have the title of the rank which is conferred upon them by virtue of their staff office.

It is believed that this amendment has the approval of the Secretary of the Navy.

MAJ. PULLMAN STRIVING TO REDUCE DROWNINGS

Hopes for Good Results From Co-Operation of Boatmen and Club Members.

Maj. Pullman, superintendent of police, is making strenuous effort to reduce the river fatalities. It is his aim to accomplish a 50 per cent reduction in the number of drownings, and, he stated this morning, co-operation on the part of persons along the water front will accomplish it.

"The police are receiving the hearty co-operation of boatmen and others along the river front," he stated, "and members of boat clubs are doing splendid work."

Maj. Pullman is anxious to have a number of life rings placed along the river front in the water from the bridges. He has no fund that can be used for that purpose, however, and his supporters in the water front are first movement think a number of rings may be donated. The rings cost only $3 each and are bought from the American Red Cross at cost.

Safety First Committee to Meet.

A meeting of the Washington water front safety first committee was scheduled to be held in Maj. Pullman's office yesterday afternoon, but was postponed for one week.

Life-saving contests will be given Sunday, June 25, just above Aqueduct bridge. The contests will take place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and will be under the auspices of Aqueduct Bridge Life Saving Corps, W. O. Rogers, president. No entrance fee is required, and more than 200 persons already have entered for the several events. What may be accomplished in the matter of safety first in the water will be shown for the benefit of interested persons.

Series of Demonstrations.

There will be a demonstration of the proper method of boarding and alighting from a canoe and it will be shown what number of persons may be supported by such craft when it fills with water. A demonstration of the Shafer method of resuscitation also will be given.

Policeman F. J. Brunner, who is giving safety first information in the schools and other institutions, reports to Maj. Pullman the result of each week's work. He is teaching life-saving and swimming, and in a number of institutions he has instructed a limited number of the inmates in order that they may become instructors to others.

PRESENT-DAY TASTES DEPLORED BY SPEAKER

Rev. John A. Ryan Points Out Extravagances in Address at St. John's College.

Present-day tastes were contrasted to the simpler tastes of twenty-five years ago, and many extravagances of the present were deplored by Rev. John A. Ryan, in an address at the commencement exercises of St. John's College last evening at Carroll Hall. ARMY BILL DISAPPOINTS.

Provides for Smaller Force Than Was Expected by Expansionists.

While the army appropriation bill as reported to the House yesterday carries a total of about $167,000,000, as compared to $101,000,000 last year, the appropriations provide for only 105,000 men, exclusive of the staff corps. The army reorganization law recently enacted, however, provides for 175,000, and in consequence those who had hoped for an immediate expansion of the army were disappointed yesterday when the bill came out of committee.

Besides providing for regular army increases, federalization of the National Guard and civilian training camps authorized by the army reorganization bill, the measure would create an executive council for mobilization of resources for national defense, and permit use of army transports to carry commercial cargo between the United States and its insular possessions. Provision is made for a $600 annuity to Mrs. James Carroll, who discovered the yellow fever germ at her life.

The bill probably will be taken up in the House for passage next week.

DULL SUNDAY PROSPECT THROUGH VIRGINIA STATE

New Ouster Law Prohibits Any Work Except That of Necessity or Charity.

Virginia's new ouster law, adopted at the last session of the state legislature, goes into effect tomorrow, and a dull Sunday is anticipated throughout the length and breadth of the Old Dominion.

The new law provides that all stores and places of business shall remain closed during the entire day, with the exception of drug stores, which may be opened during certain hours of the day. However, even the drug stores, under the law, are not permitted to sell anything but medicines, or to fill prescriptions calling for medicines.

Sale of newspapers and magazines, cigars, cigarettes and tobacco, soft drinks, candy and the like is forbidden by the new law, which also prohibits the sale of bread, etc., groceries, or other goods not held to be actual and imperative necessities. Exception is made of milk and cream, while Richmond dealers, according to newspaper reports, are jubilant because they believe they have won a section of the new law which permits the sale of ice cream on Sundays, ice cream being classed among the necessities enumerated in the law.

Repeals Old Sunday Laws.

The new law repeals the old Virginia Sunday laws, which simply prohibited the performance of any other than works of necessity or charity on Sunday and provided small penalties for violation of the law.

The feature of the new law that is most interesting to officials, however, is the section which provides for the ouster from office of any official who declines or refuses to enforce the new Sunday laws or who consents to, ignores or permits any violation of the law, or of any other law on the statute books of Virginia. Such provisions, under the terms of the new law, may be instituted by any citizen of the county in which violations of the new law occur.

Apparently the law officers in every county in Virginia have placed their own interpretation on the new law, as newspapers from the various cities and towns throughout the state indicate that widely varying constructions of the statute have been announced from such sources.

One section of the law which has created much confusion provides that nothing in the new statute is to be construed to apply to persons who observe another day than Sunday as their Sabbath. In some places this has been construed to mean that persons who observe another day than Sunday as their Sabbath, Jews and a few others might keep their places of business open as usual Sunday, provided they closed Saturday.

Rigid Enforcement Planned.

Persons who object to the application of what they call ancient and outworn Sunday laws as regards the selling of newspapers, cigars, candy, etc., have announced their intention to seek the absolutely rigid enforcement of the new law in every respect. Some of these have stated they would endeavor to prevent the running of street cars or the operation of gas or electric light and power works on Sunday. In Richmond, Petersburg, Norfolk and one or two other cities persons who will be kept from selling newspapers and other goods have declared that they would ask for warrants for the arrest of such persons and municipalities or churches who receive pay for their services Sundays, taking the stand that such persons are not ministers or evangelists or orchestras in Sunday church services are no more necessary to the comfort and wellbeing of the worshippers than Sunday newspapers and the like to others.

GETS MARSHAL'S FEES; IS CAUSE OF MIX-UP

Register of Wills Fails to Give Credit, But Treasury Controller Straightens Matter.

There is a mix-up in the accounts of the register of wills and of the United States marshal for the District of Columbia. Fees, collectable by the marshal but payable to the register, have been received by the register of wills. Instead of turning these credits over to the marshal, the register of wills has deposited them in the United States Treasury.

It becomes merely a matter of book-keeping, for as the controller of the Treasury comments, "all such fees which may have been paid into the Treasury have reached their proper destination, though not exactly in the manner prescribed by law."

Controller W. W. Warwick directs that the register of wills give to the marshal proper evidence of the fact that these fees have been paid into the Treasury, so that the marshal may properly adjust his records and accounts. As to what has been done, Controller Warwick sees no need for other action on the part of the register of wills.

As to the future he directs:

"All such fees now in your hands or which may hereafter be received by you should be turned over to the marshal accordingly."

FINDS MISTLETOE AN INJURY.

Federal Bureau Says Plant Is Draw-back to Life of Some Firs.

"Mistletoe" may spell "kisses" to fair damsels, but to coniferous trees in the northwest the plant sometimes spells death. A study of injury done to the trees by mistletoe has been conducted recently by the Department of Agriculture, which has found out that various species of the plant attack various firs, causing a great reduction in growth, both in height and diameter. There in the west, the western yellow pine, the lodgepole and the Douglas fir suffer most.

PROPOSES CAMPAIGN OF EVANGELIZATION

Religious Congress Delegates Outline Plan for Work in South America.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—Recommendations for the evangelization of South America were made at a meeting here of delegates to the Panama religious congress, who were appointed to investigate religious conditions in South America. The conference was concluded yesterday.

One of the most important recommendations is that all the five Christian colleges in Brazil be merged into one great Christian university with its seat at Mackenzie College at Sao Paulo, Brazil. The existing colleges belong to various evangelical denominations.

It also was recommended that Christian normal schools be established in various countries of South America. The establishment of a post-graduate theological school at Rio de Janeiro for the benefit of the entire continent also was favored. The conference declared and nurses from the local population should be established.

Urges Public Lectureships.

A resolution was adopted urging the creation of public lectureships where Christian men and women of international reputation will be able to speak in theaters and public halls of South America. It also was decided that steps should be taken to provide the production of better religious literature in Spanish. The question of how to reach the intelligent classes of South America was the subject of much discussion. It was stated by the delegates who made a religious survey of South America that the great majority of the educated people of the continent do not attend any church. It was also shown by the survey that there are vast areas in South America that are unoccupied by evangelical workers.

Members Present.

Among those here for the conference were: Dr. A. W. Halsey, New York, secretary, Presbyterian board of foreign missions; Dr. H. C. Tucker, director of American Bible Society for Brazil; Charles J. Ewald of Montevideo, secretary for Y. M. C. A. in South America; Dr. Charles G. Morrison of Chicago, editor the Christian Century; Dr. Irene Myers, professor history Transylvania University; Miss Carrie Carman of Pittsburgh, secretary Methodist Episcopal mission board; Dr. Thornton Pennfield, New York Y. M. C. A. Training School; Bishop W. F. Oldham, New York, recently elected by Methodists Bishop of South America; S. L. Lamm, executive secretary of the committee on co-operation in Latin America; Rev. M. E. Wood of Bayamon, Porto Rico; Mrs. Maria H. Ford, Buenos Aires; Miss Della Espargu, Piedras Negras, Mexico, and Dr. Charles T. Paul, president of the college missions.

TWO BULLET WOUNDS IN BACK.

William Smothers in Hospital, Likely to Die; Alleged Assassin Escapes.

William Smothers, colored, thirty-nine years old, 7 Limerick court southwest, suffering from two bullet wounds in his back, one shot having penetrated his liver, was taken to Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon from near 3d street and Virginia avenue southwest. Physicians say he cannot recover. It is charged that he was shot by Louis Thomas, alias "Dinks," also colored, who disappeared after the shooting.

The shooting, the police learned, followed a game of craps. Four colored men took part in the game, it is stated, and Thomas lost what money he had. He left the game, borrowed a small sum of money, returned and won all the cash his companions had, about $2. Smothers, it is charged, drew a gun and made Thomas return the money he had lost. The men separated, and later in the afternoon Thomas returned.
